

The Big Bang is Officially Falsified

Jeffrey J Wolynski
Jeffrey.wolynski@yahoo.com
September 23, 2013
Cocoa, FL 32922

Abstract: Laymen need to understand that the Big Bang is officially false, and any theory that is based on Big Bang is also false regardless of all the propaganda in the media and its state sponsorship in the school system. The Big Bang has been falsified by the Huge LQG, which stands for the "Huge Large Quasar Group".

The "Huge LQG" is a structure that is both measured to be 4 billion light years in diameter and at a distance of 8.7 billion light years (according to its average redshift of 1.27). The two logical options are exercised to explain why the Big Bang is falsified.

1. The structure is too large. Not enough time has elapsed since the Big Bang for this structure to have formed. Thus the Big Bang is falsified.

Or,

2. The structures are actually much closer and smaller. This means the actual distance cannot be determined via redshift, which states that high redshift means high distance. This means the Universe is not expanding thus the Big Bang is also falsified.

So the reader is aware, the establishment is really upset with this finding, because it means everything they were taught in school is wrong. It is predicted that they will try to explain this structure away and being a fluke and not actually existing. We can see this attitude on the Wikipedia page concerning the "Huge LQG":

"It is therefore argued that the Huge-LQG does not constitute a real structure at all."

What will happen is that scientists instead of examining their root assumption that redshift is a determinate of distance will state that these things simply do not exist, regardless if they are measured and in full view of both the astronomical community and the general public. Halton Arp predicted this, as his theory states that quasars are ejected from active galaxies and that redshift as a determinate of distance is wrong. To him a quasar is an acorn and a fully formed galaxy is an oak tree. The reader needs to be made aware of this discovery so that they can actually understand how the universe really works, not some 100 year old theory that has been falsified.