

Incontrovertible PROOF that Einstein was Wrong, and A New Unified Theory of Physics

Hello visitor,

I have found a revolutionary new theory of the universe that puts Einstein to shame. My new theory explains everything there is to explain, including the beginning and end of the universe, the nature of time and space, and the relationship between matter and energy, as well as the smallest constituents of matter. My theory also disproves Einstein, and I have conclusively demonstrated that E DOES NOT equal mc^2 .

The global scientific conspiracy has oppressed me and prevented me from revealing my groundbreaking insights. They have conspired to reject my articles for publication, intimidate, harass, blackmail, and otherwise threaten me into submission, and portray me as laughing-stock for the whole scientific community. They can't stand that I'm the next Galileo, and that my new theory disproves their saint Einstein. Also, my new theory shows that jet fuel can't melt steel beams, but they want to stop me from revealing the Illuminati conspiracy that controls the media, government, scientific establishment, military, financial institutions, and global corporations.

I advise you to read my paper carefully, as my new theory is the greatest step forward in humankind's knowledge of the cosmos in our entire history. Also, if you want to defeat the establishment that oppresses me for my revolutionary ideas and "conspiracy theories", please show your support for Donald Trump 2016. Also, support youtuber TheVigilantChristian as he works to expose the Illuminati Media.

==Einstein Was Wrong: PROOF==

Before I explain my new theory, first I will demonstrate that Einstein was wrong. Einstein's equation is

$E=mc^2$ (E is energy, m is matter, c is light)

But this can't be right. This says then that light times light times matter equals energy. But light doesn't have a mass, so how can you have mass times light times light? That's an oxymoron, because light and matter (mass) are opposites. Light is pure energy. So it doesn't make sense to say that, to get energy, you have to multiple light by matter. Light just is energy--and it doesn't make sense that you have to square it either.

So, Einstein's equation doesn't make sense, because we know that light is energy, but his equation says that you can't get energy from light without squaring it and multiplying it by matter. But since light has a pressure, as experiments have shown (for example, the whole idea of a light sail), we know that light carries energy all by itself. The photoelectric effect, that light can hit electrons and make them move, also means that light can carry energy all by itself. But Einstein's equation says that, in order to have energy, you need to square the light and then multiply by some matter. So you need two light beams (the light squared) and matter to unlock the energy. But since light carries energy by itself without matter, this is wrong.

Everything in relativity is built on this equation which negates everything we know about light. So relativity is ALL WRONG. Time dilation is built on this equation, so it is wrong, and so is length contraction. General relativity is undeniably wrong. How can light NOT be energy? How could it be that you need matter and two light beams (the c^2) to unlock light's energy?

==The Light Postulate==

My new theory, called the Zhompson Unified Theory, is based on one axiom: energy is pure light. In symbols, so, all energy is, is light. Conversely, light is pure energy, and all light beams have energy.

$$E=c$$

This means that all energetic phenomena are literally made of light. Anything moving has kinetic energy, and this kinetic energy, by $E=c$, is just light. Atomic are held together by bonds of energy, which are just bonds of light.

According to this unified theory, the world consists of two ingredients: matter, and light. All matter is actually stationary in an eternal fixed void. Any matter that is "moving" (has kinetic energy) is just a mixture of stationary matter and light. Furthermore, matter held together by molecular forces is actually held together by light beams.

All these phenomena are described by the simple equation

$$E=c,$$

the Zhompson equation.

==What is Time?==

According to the Zhompson Unified Field Theory, time is MATTER combined with LIGHT. Matter moving has a kinetic energy. This is just light, by $E=c$. So, moving matter is simply stationary matter combined with particular light beams.

So time doesn't exist. Everything is eternal matter stationary in a fixed eternal void. The appearance of motion, or energy, or interaction, is simply the combination of stationary matter with light. Light, void, and matter define the world.

==What are Forces?==

Forces have energy. Energy is just light. Two pieces of matter held together by a force, are held together by a light beam. If the force causes them to move, making kinetic energy, then the pieces of matter themselves become mixed with light.

Thus, there are two kinds of light:

1. Light beams connecting two things. These light beams hold things together like a rubber band. These light beams are what we call the "potential energy" of the force, and the amount of light corresponding to a certain amount of force energy is given by the Zhompson equation $E=c$.

2. Light mixed with matter. When matter appears to move, it is actually just mixed with light. The kinetic energy of the motion is $E=c$, with c the amount of light mixed in. No matter actually moves, it just gets mixed with light, giving it what we call kinetic energy.

==Time Revisited==

Matter is stationary in a fixed eternal void, is eternal, and never changes. So time is an illusion in that sense. But light can change, and the light beams holding together matter can transform into the light mixed into matter, and so on. So light can change.

So, time is an illusion, because matter never changes. Time is actually changing light. When light changes time goes forward. Nothing changes but light, so matter is eternal and the void is eternal, but light keeps changing and switching and defining time.

So, TIME IS CHANGING LIGHT; TIME IS NOT CHANGING MATTER.
MATTER NEVER CHANGES; TIME IS DEFINED BY LIGHT.

==Gravity==

Gravity is the universal light beam that exists between all matter defined by their distances from each other. Gravity is the basic light beam. The amount of light in Gravity is defined as $E=c$, with E Gravity energy, c the amount of light.

Other forces are less universal; they're like selective light beams.

==Beginning of the Universe==

Matter and the void always existed, but the universe began when one sphere of light exploded with its energy, spreading light everywhere.

==End of the Universe==

The universe will end when the light becomes so diffuse that it freezes, and light is gone.

==The Conspiracy==

The global illuminati establishment has oppressed me for I am the next Galileo. Also, my theory demonstrates that jet fuel can't melt steel beams. Energy is needed to make steel melt, but energy is pure light. The government experimented with pure light on their secret base in Alaska, where they got UFO energy. This experiment was called the DARPA Alien Retrieval Mechanism. So they needed pure light according to this theory to do it, which the aliens gave them. Obama himself is an alien.

I have been persecuted by the establishment for bringing these ideas to light. My papers haven't even been accepted by Nature or Physical Review. Please support Donald Trump in 2016 to defeat the Establishment. Also support youtube celebrity TheVigilantChristian as he works to expose the Illuminati media conspiracy.

References:

Twitter.com

Answers.com

4chan.com